

SOLONS GIVEN DEFENSE BILL; BATTLE LOOMS

Anti-Sabotage Measure Introduced by Attorney General Herbert

OPPOSITION FROM LABOR FORECAST

Leaders O. K. Defense, But Watch Closely For Discrimination

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 11.—A drastic anti-sabotage bill today set the stage for a tug-of-war between the administration and labor forces in the Ohio legislature.

Coupled with it were optional proposals for creating an Ohio State guard and expanding the personnel and authority of the state highway patrol, and these, too, were expected to encounter labor opposition.

Labor's viewpoint was immediately reflected in introduction of another guard bill by Reps. John C. Hess (D., Stark) and George D. Barwick (D., Coshocton), which would bar the proposed military force from use in "any labor dispute."

389 Bills Turned In

The measures were among 389 bills dumped upon the clerks' desks yesterday at the deadline for the free introduction of bills. Hereafter unanimous consent of the house or senate must be obtained for offering a bill, unless it originates in the finance committee.

House members turned in 283 legislative proposals in the one day and the senators 103, increasing to 294 the total for both in the current session.

The administration's anti-sabotage bill, prepared by Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert, provides a maximum penalty of a $5,000 fine or 10 years' imprisonment for intentionally interfering with or tampering with defense plants or deliberately producing defective materials for defense.

Poor workmanship or damage intended to delay defense preparations would make a worker liable to a year's imprisonment.

While labor leaders endorse the principle of a national defense, they have been on the alert for legislation which might place a burden on conscientious workmen and discriminate against union activities.

For that reason another clause in the anti-sabotage bill, which would permit restrictions on highways around defense plants, is opposed by labor on the ground that they could be used for strike-breaking purposes.

Power With Governor

The administration's state guard bill, also prepared by the attorney general, would authorize the governor to organize any force he deemed necessary to replace the national guard, now in federal service at Camp Shelby, Miss. The governor also could disband the state guard when he considered it proper.

The highway patrol measure would expand that service's personnel from 200 to 500 and vest them with full police powers in case of emergencies jeopardizing the safety of "life, limb and property."

The patrol's authority now is restricted to traffic enforcement and highway laws.

Herbert Gives Ruling

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11.—Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert has ruled that one person may hold the positions of juvenile officer and city chief administrator as long as the working time needed does not conflict. The question arose in Medina county.

STATE TESTIMONY FAILURE, CHARGES CASCIO'S DEFENSE

Hasn't Proved Claims, says Produce Dealer In Murder Trial

LISBON, Feb. 11.—Counsel for Frank Cascio, accused in the barrel slaying of his former housekeeper, told the jury today that the state had failed to prove that Mrs. Julia Wall was killed the evening before her body was found stuffed into a barrel in East Liverpool.

Instead of death occurring between 4 and 8:30 p. m. last Oct. 28, as the prosecution contended, Mrs. Wall obviously had been slain only a short time before her body was found at 7:30 a. m. Oct. 29, Atty. Francis Lang said in closing arguments.

Lang asserted both the coroner and undertaker reported the body still was warm.

For the prosecution, Assistant Prosecutor James Elliott attacked the testimony of four bus drivers who said they did not see the barrel as they passed along the highway early Oct. 29.

"That is no reason to believe it wasn't there," said Elliott, asserting the barrel blended with the autumnal landscape.

Elliott dwelt upon the testimony of a Negro who said he saw the 46-year-old Mrs. Wall enter Cascio's apartment around 4 p. m. Oct. 28.

Cascio, among the last witnesses, denied he killed his housekeeper. "Oh, my God, no," he replied to the slaying accusation amid his two and a half hour questioning yesterday afternoon.

Regarding testimony of Witness Charles Harris that Cascio had threatened Mrs. Wall, the defendant declared Harris himself said: "She double-crossed you. You should kill her."

Cascio testified he had given Mrs. Wall a bribe of four days, $75 but denied he was concerned about getting back the money.

The prosecution sought to show a double motive of "money madness and jealousy."

POLICE SEIZE U.S. PASSPORT IN BULGARIA

Diplomatic Courier Held Up and Relieved of Documents

PROTESTS FILED WITH GOVERNMENT

Second Case of Trouble Within Month Reported to Washington

(By Associated Press)
SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 11.—Bulgarian police seized an American diplomatic courier's passport today and the United States legation announced that "energetic protests" had been made to the government.

The courier, Raymond Leddy, telephoned Sofia from Istanbul, Turkey, that Bulgarian police seized his passport at Flovidia, a station in southern Bulgaria, and that he was forced to continue by train without the document. He said the "urks" allowed him to cross the frontier without the passport.

United States Minister George H. Earle protested immediately to the foreign office in what was reported to have been "strong terms."

Second Case of Trouble
This is the second time in a month Americans carrying diplomatic passports have had trouble in Bulgaria.

Col. William J. Donovan, who made a round of visits through the Balkans on a secret mission, reported his wallet lost or stolen while he was calling at the royal palace.

It was not immediately established whether police violated the state department seals on the diplomatic pouches Leddy was carrying.

Leddy left Sofia yesterday for Istanbul. The Flovidia police entered this compartment and asked to examine his passport. They then kept the document, telling Leddy that they would "mail it to Istanbul."

Mystery Death

Whether Walter Krivitsky, above, former director of the Soviet military intelligence, who was found dead in a Washington hotel with a bullet in his head, was murdered by foreign agents or committed suicide puzzles authorities investigating his death. Krivitsky had given much valuable testimony to U. S. agencies combating espionage.

PROBE IS ORDERED AS EX-COMMUNIST SPY IS FOUND DEAD

Friend of Slain Gen. Walter Krivitsky Asks Investigation

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Declaring that "an assassin might have counterfeited" apparent suicide notes found by the bullet-torn body of Gen. Walter G. Krivitsky, a friend of the former Soviet Russian secret agent today urged a searching investigation of his mysterious death.

Louis Waldman, Krivitsky's New York attorney, hurried here after the body was found in a $250 hotel room yesterday and disclosed that his client told him only recently of the arrival in New York of a man named "Hans."

An OGPU Assassin
"This man was known to Krivitsky as a deadly assassin of the OGPU (Soviet secret police)," Waldman said. "Since the arrival of Hans in the United States Krivitsky felt that his days were limited. He asked me to do certain things to get protection for him."

Although Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald had issued a certificate of suicide, police said they would hold the case open.

The body, a 38 caliber bullet wound in the right temple, was taken to the morgue, but the results of the autopsy will not be known for several days. Detectives said a blood-stained revolver was clutched in the Russian's hand when he was found, and that his unpretentious room showed no signs of a struggle.

Coroner MacDonald said "we have been convinced that this was

"British Need Both Immediate, Long Term Help" Willkie

Advices Passage of Aid Legislation, With Modifications; Suggests Sending Five to 10 Destroyers a Month

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Wendell L. Willkie told the senate foreign relations committee today that the only way congress can aid Britain "quickly enough" is to enact the administration's British aid legislation "with modifications."

The 1940 Republican presidential nominee, appearing in the senate's big marble-walled caucus room where packed hundreds had awaited for hours to hear him, declared in a prepared statement that Britain needs both "immediate" and "long term" assistance.

Willkie returned to this country Sunday from a flying tour of the British Isles.

As an example of "immediate aid" he told the committee that "if we are to aid Britain effectively we should provide her with from five to ten destroyers a month."

"We should be able to do this directly and swiftly rather than through the rigamarole of dubious legalistic interpretations."

"Incidentally, if we are to make more destroyers available to Britain we should recondition them in this country in our own yards."

As for modifications, Willkie said it would be "wise" to limit proposed aid to the British commonwealth, China and Greece.

Willkie told the committee that in discussing the legislation "we must not hide important facts and we must have the courage to draw the proper inferences from the facts—democracy cannot live by dodging around corners."

Hits Isolation Policy
Willkie said he believed a policy of "isolation" eventually would destroy civil liberties in the United States and would bring economic upheaval.

The witnesses, last to be heard by the committee, declared that Britain would require some time, even with American planes, to attain superiority in the air.

Leetonia Man Hurt As Car Hits Train

James M. Williamson, 65, of near Leetonia, escaped possible injury at 10:02 a. m. today when his automobile rammed the side of a passenger train at Quigley's crossing, about a mile west of Columbiana on the Leetonia-Columbiana road.

The car was demolished and the first engine of the double-header train was disabled, according to State Patrolman Cornelius Csepke.

Williamson, who was thrown clear of the wreckage, was admitted to Salem City hospital at noon, suffering from shock, cuts and bruises.

The train, enroute from Pittsburgh to Crestline, continued on to Alliance where the damaged locomotive was replaced.

BRITISH PUTTING NAZIS ON DEFENSE IN BALKAN SECTOR

Britain Showing Confidence After Mediterranean Victories

By DeWITT MacKENZIE.

Britain's vigorous move to counter Hitler in the Balkans means that at long last John Bull is able to assume the initiative in that important theater—a development which in itself is significant as showing England's growing strength.

This gesture of confidence has been made possible by the sweeping Anglo-Allied victories in the Battle of the Mediterranean. At the moment, paradoxical though it seems, the master of the world's most powerful fighting machine would appear to be on the defensive in southeastern Europe. Certainly fate has switched the cards on him, and he is playing a different hand from what he expected when he began his Balkan adventure.

Fascists Well Drubbed
The point is that the shattering of the Fascist defenses in Africa is likely to release a large and wholly efficient Allied military and naval force in the near future for possible operations in the Balkans.

In short, the manner in which Mussolini's forces have been lathered, first by the hardy Greeks and then by the British and their Allies, has so changed the complexion of the Battle of the Mediterranean that, as I see it, Herr Hitler must fear the possibility of an attack on his eastern front through the Balkans.

Hitler's game now is to strengthen his hold on the Balkans for defensive purposes, and at the same time try to rescue the Fascist army.

GERMAN 'CHUTE PLANES CROSS OVER HUNGARY

Three - Engined Transports Heading Toward Rumania, Bulgaria

TURKEY REPORTS TROOP MOVEMENTS

Soldiers, In Civilian Coats, Taken Inland From Port of Varna

(By Associated Press)
ISTANBUL, Feb. 11.—The Turkish official newspaper Otrati Politika said today that German troops were arriving steadily in Bulgaria, their officers declaring: "Our goal is the Bosphorus and Mediterranean."

The newspaper attributed its reports to a Turk long resident in Bulgaria.

"German soldiers wearing civilian overcoats were taken from Dobruja and the Bulgarian Black sea port of Varna to the interior of Bulgaria in trucks," the article said. "About 200 truck loads of these soldiers have been seen passing through a village of Dobruja."

BEIGRADE, Yugoslavia, Feb. 11.—Fleets of three-engined German troop transport planes were reported sighted over Hungary today speeding southeast in the direction of Rumania and Bulgaria.

Thirty-one of the transports—their markings clearly visible—flew low over Budapest, reports from the Hungarian capital said.

The planes were identified by military observers as transports of the type the Nazi army used to ferry parachute troops in campaigns on the western front.

Communication Cut
Telephone exchanges in other Balkan capitals reported that communications with Bulgaria were cut off during the morning. They were re-established in the early afternoon, but there was no explanation of the rupture.

Military and political observers in this neutral Balkan capital expressed the belief that events were moving swiftly in southeastern Europe following Britain's rupture of relations yesterday with Rumania and reports that Soviet Russia had notified Bulgaria she would not oppose a movement of German troops through Bulgaria.

Diplomatic quarters speculated whether Germany's next move would be an ultimatum to Sofia demanding the right of passage for Nazi troops or whether the German

Good Snooze, Broth, and His Pal Again Appear To Revive Spark

(By Associated Press)
MONTEREY, Calif., Feb. 11.—Faithful Laddie, the grieving airdale that almost died of sorrow when his master went to army camp and left him behind, seemed today to have a slightly better chance of living.

A good night's snooze, some warm broth and restoration to Private Everett Scott appeared to have revived the spark of life that was fast fading when the feeble old dog was brought here yesterday by plane from Chanute, Kas.

If only Laddie's weakened heart will carry him through the period it will take to build him back to normal weight, he may live to become mascot of the 7th division.

CONTRARY EVIDENCE

Occasionally a voice with an old-fashioned inflection is heard to complain that big business is promoting war, an echo from the post-war disillusionment of the tempestuous twenties. The fact is, big business seems to be as skittish about war as a half-broken colt in the presence of a railroad train when grandpa was a boy.

The president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, testifying on the lend-lease bill, went out of his way to make it plain that his organization and the bill, insofar as it threatened to make participation in war easier for the United States, were in sharp conflict. Further indications of a bearish business outlook are provided by the prices of common stocks, now returning to the level of last July despite a business boom.

Stocks sagged early in the spring of 1939 and were low when Germany invaded Poland in September. When Great Britain and France declared war, the stock market responded to the prospect of earnings in "war babies," but the peak reached then has not been attained since. With the collapse of France in May, last year, stocks dropped sharply to below the level on the eve of war and never have gone much above the low point reached at that time.

No one thing is responsible, though all the things that are responsible seem to add up to the one inclusive reason that businessmen and industrialists, in view of taxes and restrictions, do not relish the war. They are making the most of it, apparently determined not to let it get the best of them.

FINANCIAL ACCOUNT

There are many ways of looking at the national debt, but two particularly revealing ones. A table recently prepared by Editorial Research Reports shows, for instance, that per capita debt has varied from one turning point to another as follows:

1800—$16; 1840—$30.21; 1865—$77; 1900—$17; 1914—$12; 1919—$240; 1930—$131; 1933—$285; 1941—$341; 1942 (estimated)—$485. The per capita figures are much more dependable than lump sums, because they show what actually has been happening to government debt and what is likely to keep on happening now that the federal government has abandoned all pretense of terminating deficit financing.

Another table prepared by the same organization shows what has been happening to interest. This also is interesting due to the New Deal's use of the argument that it isn't the size of the debt that matters, but only the per capita cost of carrying it—cost that will rise, incidentally, if government securities all become taxable. Here is the "human interest" story:

1800—$0.64; 1870—$3.32; 1900—$0.53; 1920—$0.65; 1930—$5.36; 1935—$6.42; 1940—$8.00; 1941 (estimated)—$8.30; 1942 (estimated)—$9.15. The interest hasn't risen in proportion to the debt, but it must be borne in mind that the interest is payable every year, while the debt, if payable at all, would be payable but once.

SOMEBODY MUST HAVE BEEN WRONG

Italy's apparent collapse as an effectual ally must challenge the credulity of those who honestly thought dictatorship couldn't be wrong. Obviously, dictatorship in this case must have been wrong. It has made a ghastly mistake.

True, Italians are not numbered among the warrior groups. Their "finest hours" have been spent in defense of their own soil. They simply have lacked stomach for wars that were of no immediate concern to them.

They were not cut out, as a people, to be the implementers of militarism. In Ethiopia, in Spain, in Albania, and in Libya it apparently was difficult for Italians to put their heart into the slaughter of men against whom they had no grievance. Italian soldiers could be taught to goosetep in imitation of the Germans, but they couldn't be taught to wage war with the cold, ruthless fury of their allies.

All this has been, no doubt, a distinct shock to Benito Mussolini and other leading Fascists. It was their idea that if they decided to wage war for the good of Italy, no further questions were in order. The thing would be done. The dictatorial will was insuperable. The people would obey. War is man's highest destiny. They actually kidded themselves into believing a whole nation was strutting in their wake. Yes, undoubtedly somebody was terribly, terribly wrong about the whole thing.

TURNING POINT

Like that "cloud no bigger than a man's hand" which spreads upward and outward from the horizon till it blots out the sky, the turning point of winter is in sight.

In the space of one more week anyone even remotely interested will be able to feast his eyes on photographs of happy young men lobbying the old apple back and forth under southern skies.

These young men will be showing that old pepper and giving their muscles that old stretcheroo. All the stories about them will be the old baloney, but nicely calculated to give baseball fans that old feeling.

A lot of other capable young men have gone south this winter, too, for a definite purpose, but unfortunately they aren't taking their workouts in peaked caps and spiked shoes. They will stay on right through the off-season, moreover, instead of barnstorming back north for the beginning of that old baseball season that will inaugurate the good old summertime.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, February 12

MUCH enterprise and activity should mark this day as one of decisive accomplishment, with things moving under high pressure and with swift tempo. It is a time for launching new projects of major importance, and with vim, bold initiative and ingenuity. Fresh ventures and methods move toward desired goals, especially if for community, collective or group benefit. However, all will not be "plain sailing" as there is a sign of opposition or lack of cooperation from high places or those in authority.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of important events, with new projects and plans under greatly accelerated pressure. Old and lagging matters may be also successfully speeded up, and all objectives having group or collective good in mind may respond to an expansive, productive and quickening force. However, there may be very definite opposition or antagonism from superiors or those of prestige and standings, who had better be placated rather than drastically pressed.

A child born on this day should be energetic, progressive and have excellent creative ability, and executive power, although prone to over enthusiasm, extravagance and self-indulgence. This may promote hostility from those in power.

WAR OR PEACE?

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The choice of war or peace must be faced within the next six months, Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) believes.

Speaking before the Economic club last night, the Cincinnati declared that although passage of the British-aid bill would give President Roosevelt the power to take us into war, he is not likely to do so if the people are opposed to that course.

"But we face the choice, I believe, during the next six months," he said.

Senator Taft said the nation should face the issue of war "and openly debate it."

The President was charged with engaging in "name-calling and bitterness" which Taft said served "the purpose only of concealing the lamentable failure in the sending of real and material aid to Britain, and the purpose of arousing the passion and hatred which are the precursors of war."

"There is only one policy which can keep this country a peaceful country," he said. "That policy is to recognize the Atlantic and Pacific oceans as our boundaries and to defend our coasts."

TRICKING THOSE WHO FAKE ILLNESS

Workings of Medical Boards Explained by Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Malingering, or pretending to have a disease that does not exist is an ever present problem for medical boards who examine draft troops for the army.

Often they are "detected," but quite as often they are very clever. For instance, nobody can prove that another person's eyesight is not good. The oculist may strongly suspect it from his examination, but he can't prove it. So we had a system to examine those who said they could not read the letters on line four. They were sent, one by one, before a medical officer in a room. The officer was writing at a desk. The recruit stood before him. The officer said casually without looking up from his writing, "Hang your hat on that nail in the wall." The recruit turned and walked straight to the nail and hung up his hat. The officer said, "That's all." The examination was over. If the recruit's vision was as bad as he said it was, he couldn't have seen the nail.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Checking a Pretended Ill
Another ruse described by a British army surgeon concerned a man who was shell-shocked so badly that he could not speak. This is, true enough, a common symptom of shell shock. But this soldier's condition persisted a long time. One day doing ward rounds, the doctor stopped at the foot of his bed and said, "Orderly, some of my colleagues have been trying a new treatment for shell shock—they give the patient a bottle of beer before his supper. Try it on this man."

When they got out of the ward the doctor said to the orderly, "Don't give him any beer but when I ask you every day if he has had his beer you say 'Yes, sir.'"

So the next day this little dialogue was gone through. The doctor next day stopped at the foot of the speechless man's bed, looked at him and asked, "Orderly, has this man had his beer?" and the orderly answered "Yes, sir."

Next day the same thing. Next day the same thing. But on this day the man burst of speech said, "That man's a damned liar."

Stiff Backs
The recruits with stiff backs were another group that a friend of mine cleaned up by the device of having them come in his room and just as they came to his desk he dropped what was apparently their report card. "Oh! pick that up, will you please?" he would remark in his kindest tones. If the recruit stooped over and picked it up, he didn't have a stiff back.

There are hundreds of other ways of detecting malingerers. They have to be varied because word gets around and they all find out about it. But I always noticed that if a malingerer was detected, he didn't get nice work.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
E. J. C.—"What causes weeping eczema?"

Answer—Eczema is a descriptive term which applies to any rough, scaly eruption on the skin. The causes are many. In babies and young children, it is pretty generally agreed that it is due to hypersensitiveness to some food. In adults, eczema may be caused by local irritants, or by the absorption of irritants through the stomach. Many cases are due to dress goods, gloves, spectacle frames, shoe leather, etc.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

"HONEYMOON PREFERRED" by May Christie

CHAPTER NINETEEN

As Jean reached the front door on her way to the beauty-parlor, she found Gaby, dressed for going out, examining some mail on a silver salver in the hall.

As Jean appeared, Gaby hastily slipped an envelope into her hand.

What was she up to? Was that letter really addressed to her?

Jean told her tartly: "Treves always distributes the mail."

Gaby gave her odd little laugh. Then she handed her this letter that came for me, and said: "Oh, Meister Treves, will you give it back to me, please? Or to be sure it really is my letter, Jean, would you like to see how it is addressed to me?"

Jean flushed. She had seen Gaby examining the envelopes and postmarks. Her inquisitiveness was particularly irritating to the much-traveled Jean.

She shrugged. "I'm not interested." But Gaby really was unmovable.

When Jean got back, late for lunch, she went straight into the dining-room, to find Rupert eating alone. He looked worried. He said: "Jean, I wish you'd run up to your mother first. Gaby is in with her for ages. And when Gaby left, I went up to her and found her weeping hysterically. Gaby must have said something to upset her, but she won't tell me what it was. I want to be alone!—that was all I could get out of her!" And now she's poked out of her!

Naturally I'm very worried. I was going to phone for Dr. Oliver, but now you're here you may be able to coax her to let you in and find out what's the trouble."

Her stepfather's words filled Jean with dismay.

She blamed herself for having gone to the beauty parlor, but she'd felt secure in the knowledge that Gaby, too, was leaving the house when she did.

Furthermore, hadn't it been her mother's expressed wish to see Gaby alone, when she felt fit for the interview?

But Gaby had evidently butted in, unasked. There was the rub!

Gaby evidently had spared Laurel nothing! Her bitter resentment at the woman who had deserted her in her infancy must have triumphed over blood ties, over womanly pity!

Jean tried not to show emotion, to keep her voice steady as she replied: "Of course I'll go to mother as once. Dad! And I know what the matter is! Seeing Gaby fresh from France brought those early, sad days of hers back to her mind! Gaby must have talked about this war—you see she was born during the old war, though she can't remember it—and it made my mother think of my father, and his being killed when they both were so young and in love, over there!"

Would Rupert swallow that? Was this second upset sign concerning Gaby to deepen suspicion that the French girl had some hold on Laurel? Was connected some way with a past he didn't know of?

He hesitated. Seemed to be turning this in his mind. She added, to make it seem more plausible: "You see, we never talk of father. When I was a little thing, I knew how it upset her. I soon learned not to question her about him, because it always started her crying. And Gaby's evidently been awfully tactless! Laurel wasn't well enough to see strangers anyhow, Dad!"

He frowned. "But Laurel sent for her. Gaby was with me when Toinette brought the message for her to go upstairs."

"Oh, Laurel's so kind and hospitable, she thought Gaby might think it funny if she didn't welcome her this morning, after the do-do of last night at Gaby's party," Jean explained.

But she went up to her mother's door in great trepidation.

Hearing her voice, Laurel let her in. Her pretty face was blotched and disfigured with weeping.

"Oh, thank God you've got back!" she sobbed, closing the door behind Jean. "I was on the verge of calling Rupert, and telling him everything! Oh, Jean, to think—" lowering her voice to a whisper—"that any child of mine could be so cruel, so ruthless! She—she hates me!"

"No, she doesn't!" soothingly. "It's just part of her act. Scene One, starting with a bang! Bluff! She wants to get the upper hand right from the beginning. But if you're going to fall for it, then it's much better to tell Rupert. You bet she'll put a stopper on her!"

"But suppose he won't ever forgive me. Oh, I can't face life all over again alone!" More self-pitying tears.

Jean felt, exasperated. Laurel should have thought of all this, many years ago. And now, instead of bucking up and facing the consequences of her own acts, she was buckling under.

She said tersely: "Get right back into that bed. You need a brace. Have you any brandy in your luggage?" Laurel always carried a flask on even short sea trips.

"Yes, Toinette unpacked for me last night. I think she put it in the top bureau drawer."

Jean found the flask and went into the bathroom with it, pouring a stiff drink into a glass, and some water into another. She returned with these to the bedroom.

"Here you are. And not a word till you've got that down!"

"Ugh! What a vile taste it has!" But Laurel did as she was told.

"And now we've got to come to a definite decision about Gaby," Jean said firmly, "and what's more, we've got to stick to it. If Rupert isn't to be told—although I think that would be the best course to take—you've got to play your part just as I've played mine. It's plain that Gaby doesn't want affection from us. Personally, I can't think of her as a sister. Our backgrounds have been so absolutely different, and her standards certainly aren't mine! But she's here in the house, and unless you want to give her game away, you've got to accept her gracefully and not throw any more scenes, or there'll be a showdown with Rupert!"

"Yes, Jean," humbly.

"What did she say? And no more tears, mind!"

"I won't. I feel—better now—dear." Laurel blinked pathetically. She said I'd been inhuman. Can you imagine—making me out a—monster?"

"Well, I suppose she had a right to be sore," Jean bracingly replied. "Her life hasn't been a bed of roses, exactly. And now she's comparing yours to hers, all these years. When she was singing on the waterfront at Marseilles, we were wallowing in luxury, Laurel—and now she knows it! And you can hardly expect her to be—er—cordial. Would you, in her shoes?"

"I—I told her I couldn't trace her—that it wasn't my fault, but her father's—er—was he who was cruel and inhuman!"

"You shouldn't have said that! He was the only parent she ever knew, and though he died when she was seven, it seems she was very fond of him, and remembers him pretty clearly."

"I tell you she hates me, Jean! Oh, the things she said! I wanted to put my arms around her and kiss her—that was after she brought me the old photographs and the watch and papers, and I knew she really was my long-lost daughter," gulped Laurel, "but she drew back from me as though I were a rattlesnake!"

"You do not kiss me until you have made explanation—full atonement! These were the very words she used to me, her mother!"

"Well, in a way you had it coming to you, Laurel! There isn't any question she's had a pretty awful time! And it doesn't make the memory of it any sweeter to know she could have cashed in on us long ago. She never knew you'd married money until she worked for an American woman in Martinique, and that was just recently."

Laurel sniggered. "I did try to find her! But how could I know if she were alive or dead?"

Jean refrained from the logical answer that Rupert's wealth could have paid a string of detectives in Europe to find Gaby.

Instead, she said: "Well, what's the 'explanation,' the 'atonement' she's after? What are her terms, Laurel?"

"That she remain in this house as long as she chooses. That she gets the same allowances as you do. I suppose I'll have to pay that out of my own pocket . . . not that I mind! If only she'll be sweet and—and filial, I'll do anything, for after all I am her mother—"

"But she's got the upper hand of you. Bear that in mind!" It was hard to get Laurel down to earth from her emotional flights, which Jean suspected gave her a perverse sort of kick.

"And now," the girl went on, "I'm going to run down a minute and rearsure poor Dad about you, and repeat what I already said. That Gaby and you were talking about France, and the old war, and it brought back the tragedy of my father being killed in action, and all that, and so that's the reason you've been so upset."

Again she went, and presently returned.

"He is fond of you, Laurel!" she told her mother half reassuringly, half reproachfully. "It was all I could do to keep him out of this room. But I've managed to shoos him back to his office for a while."

"I wouldn't want him to see me looking such a fright . . . I do look a fright, don't I, Jean?"

She certainly must be recovering, when she could give thought to her appearance again, Jean thought grimly.

"And now let's finish about Gaby before she returns. I don't want to give her the satisfaction that we're in here, pow-wow-ing about her. Her ego's swelled up enough already," Jean remarked.

"But—oh, you must remember that she is your sister, darling!"—in reproach.

"I'm not in the least likely to forget that, while she's in this house. (To be continued.)"

"States That TONJON Blessed Her With An Abundant Supply of Energy and Strength. Can Eat Almost Anything without the Thought of Distress Afterwards. Give TONJON No. 1 Full Credit For Making Her Feel Good All Over."

MRS. ROBERT SCHULTZ

"I have been a victim of chronic constipation for the last few years and due to this dreadful condition I had gotten to the place where I suffered much misery from severe headache and nervousness," declared Mrs. Robert Schultz, 445 W. Washington Street, Alliance, Ohio, and a Methodist Church member.

This grand compound soon got my bowels moving like a charm and it didn't cramp me like almost everything else I had used did."

"I can eat almost anything I want with assured satisfaction that I will not have to endure painful suffering from indigestion, gas and sourness that used to torment me so. ## PLANS COLLECTION OF PERSONAL TAXES

LISBON, Feb. 11.—Approximately 9,000 personal tax blanks were placed in the mails today by County Auditor Ross Tisher in preparation for the annual collection which will officially open on Saturday, Feb. 15.

Auditor Tisher states, however, following a plan which he introduced a year ago, personal tax returns may now be made and the personal taxes paid at the same time real estate taxes are paid. The plan was adopted for the convenience of the taxpayers in order that all taxes might be paid at one time.

As a means of facilitating the making of personal tax returns in view of decreased personnel in this department, Auditor Tisher suggests that each person making a return bring the blank mailed to him at this time.

Later this month a representative of the auditor's office will visit various cities and villages in the county for the purpose of assisting persons in filing their 1941 personal tax returns. The schedule of appearances of the auditor's representative is as follows:

Feb. 17, Homeworth, at the township house; Feb. 18, East Rochester, postoffice; Feb. 19, Hanover, Campbell's store; Feb. 20, Salineville, city hall.

Feb. 21, East Palestine, Chamberlain's insurance office; Feb. 24-27, Columbiana, Union bank; Feb. 28, Leetonia, city hall.

March 3-4, Salem, city hall; March 5, Wellsburg, city hall; March 6, Negley, postoffice in the morning; March 6, Rogers, mayor's office, afternoon; March 10-15, East Liverpool, city hall.

The World is flat!

By NORMAN CHANDLER
Chairman Newspaper Publishing Committee

YOU BELIEVE WHAT YOU READ AND HEAR. Don't deny it—because if you do, you're admitting you can't learn anything!

If you had lived all your life in a place where you were told the earth was flat, you'd know no differently. You'd say the world is flat.

But if you lived in a country where all the facts, all the ideas, all the opinions were brought to you in a handy everyday package, you'd be able to make up your mind about the shape of the earth or the worth of a law or the value of a certain kind of shirt.

And you do live in the latter kind of a country. You live in a democracy—a place where people, making up their own minds, can govern themselves, make a living for themselves and convert their money into bread and butter and permanent waves.

Where do they get this knowledge, this power to decide for themselves? Just where you are getting it now—from your newspaper.

Don't let anyone ever tell you you don't need news about people and laws and events. And don't let anyone tell you that you can get along without the advertising news you read.

Just watch a man or woman who reads the ads make a dollar do its full job. And watch the well-read man support the right kind of government. Watch him guard his freedom. Watch him increase his security and protect his liberty.

Isn't it strange how few people stop to realize that America's newspapers are the very key to America's freedom?

NOTE: The Newspaper Publishers Committee, composed of over 350 leading American Newspapers, publishes these messages simultaneously each week. The force which unites these newspapers is their recognition of their responsibility to you, the reader.

DAYTON U. FLIERS RACK UP 82 POINTS TO BEAT WESLEYAN

Two-Points-a-Minute Pace Tops Scoring Record; Mogus Now Has 256

(By Associated Press) The Dayton university fliers today possess this year's high scoring basketball record.

Racking up the points at over two-a-minute, the Fliers defeated Ohio Wesleyan last night, 82 to 46, with a junior forward—Bob Kavanagh of Springfield—accounting for 30 of Dayton's tallies.

The score tops De Sales' 80-33 win over Alliance (Pa.) and the season's other high scores: Wooster's 76-18 defeat of Hiram and Ashland's 70-35 shellacking of Hiram.

It was Dayton's highest team point total in several seasons and Kavanagh's 30 points was the highest individual score on the Dayton floor this winter.

Dayton led 44-26 at the half.

Mogus Posts Total At Youngstown, Leo Mogus, Penguin guard, tossed in 25 points to boost his season's total to 256 in 14 games as Youngstown beat Waynesburg (Pa.), 53 to 47.

Kent State whipped Wilmington on the losers' floor, 47 to 39, in an exciting contest. Kent led all the way—22-15 at halftime.

At Defiance, Defiance college won its fifth consecutive game by trouncing Grand Rapids, (Mich.) university, 50 to 44. Leading 25-22 at the half, the home team built up a 38-24 margin before starting a coast to the finish line.

Tonight's games: New River at Rio Grande, Ohio university at Marietta, John Carroll at Akron, Detroit U. at Toledo, Findlay at Heidelberg, Kent State at Wittenberg, Ohio Northern at Ashland, Kenyon at Oberlin, Hiram at Thiel, Cedarville at Wilberforce, and Ball State at Xavier.

Reds Profiting By McKechnie's Advice CINCINNATI, Feb. 11.—That marry-and-settle-down advice Manager Bill McKechnie gave his Reds when he took over here three years ago is paying off these days when the rifle rivals the baseball bat for a resting place on athletic shoulders.

At least 14 of the world champion Cincinnati Reds are in selective service Class 3-A automatically because of dependent children. The 14 cover every position on the field and include six pitchers—among them Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters, the champs' big guns.

Second Baseman Lonnie Frey is papa of three boys. Pitchers Walters and Jim Turner and Third Baseman Bill Werber have two children each. Derringer, First Baseman Frank McCormick, Shortstop Eddie Joost and Outfielders Ival Goodman, Mike McCormick and Jimmy Gleason have an offspring apiece.

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 11.—The Columbiana High School Clippers have two games scheduled for this week, the first at Fairfield Tuesday night. Tickets for this game, placed on sale a week ago, were all sold by Wednesday night.

The Fairfield lads have won 13 straight games without a defeat this season and are favored to repeat their 27-20 victory over the Red and White earlier this season. Friday night Coach Al Beach's charges meet Louisville High in a Tri-County league game on the Columbiana floor. The locals have now won 9 out of 13 games played and are leading the Tri-County league with four victories and no defeats. A victory over Louisville will secure the Clippers at least a tie for first place. The final game of the regular season will be the Boardman fray at Columbiana Feb. 20.

Not a Candidate SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 11.—Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw of Santa Clara has counted himself out as a candidate for the post of Notre Dame athletic director and head football coach, one of the most sought after positions in the collegiate sports world.

Shaw has been mentioned prominently in connection with the vacancy ever since Elmer Layden resigned the dual post a week ago to become commissioner of professional football.

BOWLING NEWS

Burt Capel's Realtors protected their two-game lead in the Quaker City loop last night, trouncing the Colonial Finance three straight games while the second-place Altohouse Motors kept right on from the Lape Hotel at the Grate Recreation alleys.

The Finance crew evened up their night's score by winning three tilts from the Salem Motor on a forfeit or this postponed game.

Coy's Buicks trounced the Salem Motor in the regular match, three straight, while C. B. Hunt's gained a similar verdict over the Golden Eagle. The Moose took two out of three from the Bachelors.

Mel of the mighty bludgeon, who has hit more home runs against National league pitchers than any other man, said his eyes, which annoyed him last season, had given him no more trouble but would venture only enough of a prediction on the season to say, "we hope it will be better than last year."

Ott and Hubbell, roommates since Carl joined the Giants in 1928, are the only presently active players on the club who were regulars during the regime of the late fiery Manager John J. McGraw. Hubbell has been visiting Ott at the latter's suburban home prior to leaving tomorrow for training camp at Miami.

"I won't know how my arm is until I've tried it for a couple of months," said lanky, leather-faced Carl as they sat in the locker room of the Metairie country club after a last pre-season round of golf.

"It didn't hurt last year, but got tired after six or seven innings. I didn't know if it was from the operation I had the year before or just because of old age."

Ott said he had not seen an oculist since last season and had not tried again to wear the glasses he tried unsuccessfully at the start of the campaign.

OTT AND HUBBELL NOT TOO HOPEFUL FOR THIS SEASON

Last of Mighty McGrawmen Admit Old Age May Be Creeping Up

(By Associated Press) NE WORLENS, Feb. 11.—Mel Ott and Carl Hubbell, the last of the McGrawmen, face the imminent baseball season without what you would call bubbling optimism.

"King Carl" admitted today that age might be creeping into his 38-year-old left arm, which has grown progressively weaker in the fray since it pitched the New York Giants to the pennant in 1937 and tamed the Yankees in the fourth game of the world series.

Mel of the mighty bludgeon, who has hit more home runs against National league pitchers than any other man, said his eyes, which annoyed him last season, had given him no more trouble but would venture only enough of a prediction on the season to say, "we hope it will be better than last year."

DAYTON U. FLIERS RACK UP 82 POINTS TO BEAT WESLEYAN

Two-Points-a-Minute Pace Tops Scoring Record; Mogus Now Has 256

(By Associated Press)

The Dayton university fliers today possess this year's high scoring basketball record.

Racking up the points at over two-a-minute, the Fliers defeated Ohio Wesleyan last night, 82 to 46, with a junior forward—Bob Kavanaugh of Springfield—accounting for 30 of Dayton's tallies.

The score tops De Sales' 80-33 win over Alliance (Pa.) and the season's other high scores: Wooster's 76-18 defeat of Hiram and Ashland's 70-36 shellacking of Hiram.

It was Dayton's highest team point total in several seasons and Kavanaugh's 30 points was the highest individual score on the Dayton floor this winter.

Dayton led 44-26 at the half.

Mogus Posts Total

At Youngstown, L. Mogus, Penguin guard, tossed in 25 points to boost his season's total to 256 in 14 games as Youngstown beat Waynesburg (Pa.), 53 to 47.

Kent State whipped Wilmington on the losers' floor, 47 to 39, in an unexciting contest. Kent led all the way—22-15 at halftime.

At Defiance, Defiance college won its fifth consecutive game by trouncing Grand Rapids, (Mich.) university, 50 to 44. Leading 25-22 at the half, the home team built up a 38-24 margin before starting a coast to the finish line.

Tonight's games: New River at Rio Grande, Ohio university at Marietta, John Carroll at Akron, Detroit U. at Toledo, Findlay at Heidelberg, Kent State at Wilkesburg, Ohio Northern at Ashland, Kenyon at Oberlin, Hiram at Thiel, Cedarville at Wilberforce, and Ball State at Xavier.

Reds Profiting By McKechnie's Advice

CINCINNATI, Feb. 11.—That marry-and-settle-down advice Manager Bill McKechnie gave his Reds when he took over here three years ago is paying off these days when the rifle rivals the baseball bat for a resting place on athletic shoulders.

At least 14 of the world champion Cincinnati Reds are in selective service Class 3-A automatically because of dependent children. The 14 cover every position on the field and include six pitchers—among them Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters, the champs' big guns.

Second Baseman Lonnie Frey is papa of three boys, Pitchers Walters and Jim Turner and Third Baseman Bill Werber have two children each. Derringer, First Baseman Frank McCormick, Shortstop Eddie Joost and Outfielders Ival Goodman, Mike McCormick and Jimmy Gleason have an offspring apiece.

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 11.—The Columbiana High School Clippers have two games scheduled for this week, the first at Fairfield Tuesday night. Tickets for this game, placed on sale a week ago, were all sold by Wednesday night.

The Fairfield lads have won 13 straight games without a defeat this season and are favored to repeat their 27-20 victory over the Red and White earlier this season. Friday night Coach Al Beach's charges meet Louisville High in a Tri-County league game on the Columbiana floor. The locals have now won 9 out of 13 games played and are leading the Tri-County league with four victories and four defeats. A victory over Louisville will assure the Clippers of at least a tie for first place. The final game of the regular season will be the Boardman fray at Columbiana Feb. 20.

Not a Candidate

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 11.—Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw of Santa Clara has counted himself out as a candidate for the post of Notre Dame athletic director and head football coach, one of the most sought after positions in the collegiate sports world.

Shaw has been mentioned prominently in connection with the vacancy ever since Elmer Layden resigned the dual post a week ago to become commissioner of professional football.

columns simply would begin moving across the Danube from the Rumanian shore, where they now are massed in considerable numbers.

Fuel Train Blows Up

Tension in Bulgaria was further sharpened by the explosion yesterday of a train of 39 tank cars carrying Russian aviation fuel destined for Germany. The train blew up half a mile inside Bulgaria from the frontier town of Caribrod and Bulgarian authorities were reported to suspect sabotage. Eight trainmen were killed.

Reliable diplomatic sources in Sofia said last night that Arkady A. Scholeff, a special Russian envoy to Sofia, had told Bogdan Philoff and Ivan Popoff, Bulgaria's premier and foreign minister, not to expect the Red army to intervene if Germany should march through.

Three hundred miles on the other side of Bulgaria, across the Greek frontier, Britain has an air force and the break yesterday in British-Rumanian relations is regarded as a sign that she would not hesitate to use it if the Nazis penetrated deeper into the southeast.

Caught between these two potential threats, Bulgaria was said to have sought the attitude of the U. S. S. R., always regarded as her "Slavic big brother" and a barrier to deeper Nazi penetration. Although there is no common frontier between Russia and Bulgaria, they are separated only by a few miles of German-held Rumania.

from the Greeks in Albania. Thus we see him swamping Rumania with troops and turning the country into a military and naval base, and we see him reaching for Bulgaria.

When Does Turkey Come In? If we could peep into the minds of the British command for a couple of ticks, we might get some badly needed hints. For instance, one would like to know at what juncture Turkey might join Britain under their defensive alliance.

It is hard to believe that the British are challenging the Nazis in the Balkans without assurance that the Turks are going to put those two million bayonets into action on the Allied side if necessary. Still, Russia's reported notice to Bulgaria that the Soviet won't use force to oppose a Nazi troop movement into Bulgaria might change the picture. At the moment that is a speculative point.

JAIL EXPENSE FOR YEAR IS $8.415

LISBON, Feb. 10.—The cost of boarding Columbiana county prisoners in the Mahoning county jail for the year ending January 31 amounted to $8,415.65, the January bill being $713.60.

This is approximately $3500 more than the cost of operating the old Columbiana county jail, which was abandoned one year ago. State Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill demanded that the building be razed because it was a fire hazard, unsafe and unsanitary.

Sheriff George Hayes says the statement included 70 prisoners confined in the Mahoning county jail during January, 19 of whom were in for the entire month, 23 for over 15 days. There are now 31 prisoners there from this county.

Among the prisoners held during January 32 were from East Liverpool, eight from Salem, three from Wellsview, two from East Palestine, and one from Leetonia. The balance of the 70 prisoners were sentenced from probate and justice of the peace courts of Columbiana county.

FATHER ACCUSED IN JUVENILE CASE

The father of one of four Salem boys who were apprehended by police several days ago in connection with the looting of parked automobiles, was taken before Probate Judge H. W. Hammond at Lisbon today, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The charge was filed following a hearing yesterday in Mayor Norman Phillips' court, attended by the boys and their parents. Two of the boys are 12 years old, one 10, and another 14.

According to police records, the father gave his 12-year-old son a few cents for cigarettes which he knew the lad had stolen. The defendant also admitted paying ten cents to another boy for a flashlight which had been stolen.

A jail sentence is expected to be meted out to the father, who is a laborer, doing odd jobs. He was taken to Lisbon today by Probation Officer James McCready.

As for the four boys, they were placed on probation by Mayor Norman Phillips. Six o'clock was set as their curfew hour.

Mayor Phillips urged that the boys join the Boy Scouts and take up worthwhile projects. He gave one of the lads $1 for a membership fee.

a suicide. But in view of the facts Mr. Waldman gave, we are going to keep the case open and run down all leads."

Waldman's theory of possible assassination was backed by the Russian's widow, Mrs. Tanya Krivitsky who said her New York apartment that her husband was warned a month ago that a man was in this country seeking to kill him.

Coroner MacDonald, however, said the handwriting of three notes found by the body—one in Russian, another in English, and a third in German—was reported by police experts to be identical with that on Krivitsky's registration card at the hotel.

Krivitsky, who told the Dies committee he was born Samuel Ginsberg, had registered as "Walter Ford."

"It is very difficult and I want to live very badly, but it is impossible," read the police translation of a note written in Russian and addressed to "Tanya and Alek," Krivitsky's wife and son.

The little Russian with the grim, lined face gained national notice in October, 1939, when he declared in testifying before the Dies committee investigating un-American activities that "undoubtedly" there were Russian secret agents in the United States army and navy. He told the committee of house members that he broke with Josef Stalin's government in 1937 over the Russian "purge" carried out that year.

J. B. Matthews, Dies committee investigator, asserted the Russian once told him "they'll get me sure as hell. The OGPU is going to assassinate Trotsky and me. When I'm dead, don't ever believe that I committed suicide."

Leon Trotsky, anti-Stalinist leader, was bludgeoned fatally with a pickaxe last year in Mexico.
